It was a year of movies and mini-series. "The Winds of War" recorded record ratings for its story of an American naval family caught in the vortex of World War II. "The Blue and the Gray" was also along the lines of war, but that definitely can't be said for "The Thorn Birds." It also can't be said about the movie "Gandhi." It was the story of Mohandas K. Gandhi, the Indian advocate of civil disobedience. Not all movies, however, were that serious. Dustin Hoffman won wide acclaim for "Tootsie," in which he dressed as a woman a good deal of the time. His former co-star Meryl Streep also got rave reviews for the female lead in "Sophie's Choice."

But don't think that movies are the only new things. 10.8% unemployment was a jolt. Terry Branstad's inauguration as the Governor of Iowa went quite a bit smoother. Helmut Schmidt's resignation as Chancellor of West Germany had some of us worried until Helmut Kohl was elected. Yuri Andropov's succession to the Soviet Premiership, however, didn't give politicians and officials that same relieved feeling.

For all you rowdies I even have some scandal. H.R.H. Prince Andrew of England was caught vacationing in the Caribbean with one-time porn star Kathryn (Koo) Stark last fall. (Do we dare ask?? Do we have to??) John DeLorean didn't follow the Prince's lead however, for his scandal is being arrested for cocaine trafficking. His finances may be in a mess, but his wife, Christina Ferrare, is hanging in there.

In the year 1982-83 the following people died: Her Serene Highness Princess Grace of Monaco, Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev, Henry Fonda, Ubie Blake, Tennessee Williams, Karen Carpenter and Frank Miller.

People weren't the only things which departed in 1982-83. Governor Robert Ray didn't seek re-election and ended his four terms as governor quietly. The original M*A*S*H episodes came to an end on Feb. 28 with a 2 1/2 hr. movie entitled, "Goodbye, Farewell and Amen." Although Doonesbury's just on vacation until the fall of 1984, Braniff is gone forever.
